The Maritime World of 16th Century Philippines: The Shipwreck Evidence

This presentation explores the maritime world of 16th Century Philippines through the examination of shipwrecks and their cargoes. It starts with a historical background as past Philippine societies accommodate the arrival of Spain that reoriented maritime network circuits from the previous Sino-centric and Southeast Asian maritime network links. It also delves into the genesis and early phase of the Manila galleon trade. This will be followed by shipwreck examples (Española, Gujangan, Royal Captain, San Isidro, Gasán, and the San Diego) to complement the historical documents.
